

"Start with the general practitioner – a financial planner (whose) compensation should be from fees alone."

Popular Journalists Hail Commission-Free Service Model and the Benefits of Hourly, As-Needed Services

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

September 6, 2013 – How can people with limited assets and income get good investment advice? Fee-Only fiduciary planners from the Garrett Planning Network were recommended in "Great Resources for Investors with Low Incomes."

Forbes
i.com

September 4, 2013 – The Garrett Planning Network was featured in a great article called "Financial Advice That Will Save You $50,000."

U.S. News
& WORLD REPORT

August 29, 2013 – In "How to Find a Financial Advisor if You're Not Rich," the Garrett Planning Network was recommended as an option for middle income investors seeking solid financial advice.

USA
TODAY

July 25, 2013 – Visit www.GarrettPlanningNetwork.com or a financial planner that spells out all fees upfront and does not charge commissions. Hiring a Garrett advisor for hourly work was also recommended in "Do you need a financial adviser? Maybe, and maybe not."

InvestmentNews

June 21, 2013 – Sheryl Garrett, CFP®, AIF®, founder of the Garrett Planning Network, was one of the first financial planners to succeed in offering services to the middle market. As a pioneer of financial advice accessible to all, she and the Garrett Planning Network were featured in "15 transformational advisers."

Forbes
i.com

May 9, 2013 – In "Does Your Portfolio Need Professional Help?," Garrett advisors were recognized as independent advisors who provide objective advice at a fair price.

USA
TODAY

May 5, 2013 – According to "Middle class struggles to get good financial advice," affordable financial advisors tend to charge hourly fees and offer a range of services. They are also reliable and do not sell financial products, which makes the Garrett Planning Network a great resource for middle income folks seeking financial advice.

Kiplinger

May 2013 – In "6 Things You Must Know About Financial Planners," the Garrett Network was recommended as a resource for Fee-Only advisors.

Chicago Tribune

April 24, 2013 – The Garrett Planning Network was recommended as a source for Fee-Only advisors in "Family finances: How to pick a financial planner."

"The Garrett Planning Network is THE best source of one-on-one financial planning for the tens of millions of Americans who previously didn't have access to competent, trustworthy and affordable financial planning guidance."

Jonathan Pond, author of eleven books on personal financial planning
PBS Television Host: "Money Help is On the Way"

InvestmentNews

April 10, 2013 – In "To be successful with female clients, make it personal," Sheryl Garrett, CFP®, AIF®, founder of the Garrett Planning Network, discussed how making connections with her female clients is important in building a trusting relationship.

MarketWatch

March 28, 2013 – The Garrett Planning Network was recommended as an option for finding a trusted Fee-Only financial advisor in "Housing, health-care costs are retirement killers."

YAHOO!
FINANCE

February 6, 2013 – "Whether you call it a rainy day fund, emergency fund or cash reserve fund, it needs to be established and replenished over time," said Sheryl Garrett, AIF®, CFP®, founder of the Garrett Planning Network in "Sign You're Living Beyond Your Means."

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

January 14, 2013 – The Garrett Planning Network was mentioned in "Seven Resolutions to Get Your Nest Egg in Shape."

MarketWatch

December 21, 2012 – In "Yes, Virginia, there really is retirement," wage earners and pre-retirees were advised to consult a Garrett Planning Network advisor to determine how much they need to save and how they can retire.

AARP
The Magazine

December 2012 – "Most of us spend 100 percent of what we make, and it took us years to grow into that lifestyle. Now we're going to have to make adjustments working backward," advised Sheryl Garrett, AIF®, CFP®, founder of the Garrett Planning Network, in "The Back-to-Work Boomer Financial Recovery Guide."

CBS
moneywatch
.COM

November 6, 2012 – In "The best way to pay your retirement advisor," the Garrett Planning Network was suggested as a good resource for qualified Fee-Only financial advisors.

Los Angeles Times

October 5, 2012 – "The majority of Americans don't need, nor should they pay for, full-time advice," said Sheryl Garrett, AIF®, CFP®, founder of the Garrett Planning Network in "Financial planning for the average investor."

Kiplinger

September, 2012 – In "Options for Low-Cost Investment Advice," Sheryl Garrett advised that the average investor does not need a full-service advisory firm to provide investment oversight on a regular basis.

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

August 31, 2012 – “Whatever approach investors use, they should be sure to rebalance not just between major asset classes but also within each of those classes,” said Sheryl Garrett, AIF®, CFP®, founder of the Garrett Planning Network in “A Rebalancing Act.”

Chicago Tribune

August 17, 2012 – In “What to learn from pro stars’ financial planning,” Sheryl Garrett advised the public to hire an advisor who has been recommended by someone you trust. Use recommendations to start your search, but interview at least three qualified candidates before choosing one.

SmartMoney
THE WALL STREET JOURNAL MAGAZINE

July 11, 2012 – Sheryl Garrett, AIF®, CFP®, founder of the Garrett Planning Network discussed the Fee-Only financial planning model and was featured in “Should You Trust the Anti-Wall Street Crowd With Your Money?.”

To learn more about The Garrett Planning Network, Inc. visit www.GarrettPlanningNetwork.com.

- Find an Advisor using the special locator map in the Public section of the master site.
- View the most recent news coverage and access the articles on the Garrett and Members In the News pages.
- Learn about Investing in an Uncertain Economy For Dummies® and other books by industry influential Sheryl Garrett, such as Personal Finance Workbook For Dummies®.
- Obtain a list of other recommended books via the Bookstore on the site.
- Learn more about how planners work and are compensated.

www.GarrettPlanningNetwork.com / (866) 260-8400